

166. MORNING HYMN

38, 197.

1. O, how love - ly is the morn - ing, When it
 2. Let our eyes be raised to heav - en Where the
 3. E - ven as the spring - time flow - ers Grow be -
 4. This day al - so He will guide us, In our is be - gun with God; Joy and thanks our sun is shin - ing bright, And on hill and neath the sun's warm rays, So the Lord by work His help pro - vide, And on wis - dom's hearts a - dorn - ing, As be - hooves a child of God, dale and mead - ow Is dis - pens - ing life and light;

 His own pow - ers Makes us gar - lands for His praise;
 ways He'll lead us, Stand - ing ev - er by our side,

Wak - ing aft - er night so fair In the Mak - er's
 But far more than sun in space Beams the Sav - iour's
 He in - vites most lov - ing - ly; Lit - tle chil - dren,
 That on this whole bless - ed day No mis - hap can gen - tle care, Ris - ing with - out grief or sor - row kind - ly face; Truth and kind - ness, peace - ful near - ness come to Me! All should tru - ly know Him ev - er, come our way; And that un - der His rich bless - ing

To a new and joy - ful mor - row.
 Shine out in e - ter - nal clear - ness.
 Call Him Broth - er, Lord, and Sav - iour!
 Night will find us sweet - ly rest - ing.

5. Through His grace made sweet and easy,
 We'll His teachings understand,
 When He on the path of duty
 Gently leads us by the hand.
 O, how blest the child that may
 In His grace begin the day,
 Whose desire and wish is wholly
 By His love to be made holy.

6. Come then, Lord of life eternal,
 Step into our midst, we pray;
 Help that we may not be merely Hearers of Thy Word today.
 To our teacher, O, be near;
 Bless the children gathered here;
 May we thrive in fullest measure,
 And Thy heart in us find pleasure!
